Message from Chairman and Chief Executive Officer

Dear Partner,

At Indegene, we believe in fostering strong, transparent, and ethical relationships with all our business associates like you. We consider you an essential part of our extended family, and we deeply value your contributions to our success.

We are committed to conducting our business with integrity and in full compliance with all applicable laws, regulations, and policies. Our commitment to ethical business practices extends beyond our organization to our entire supply chain, and it is imperative that all our business partners are in sync with this. Therefore, I would like to emphasize the criticality of compliance with the law, adherence to our policies, and the highest standards of ethical conduct in all your interactions.

Failure to adhere to these principles may result in a review of our engagement and could lead to the termination of our contract. We believe in building long-lasting relationships based on trust, mutual respect, and shared values to succeed together.

Thank you for your dedication to upholding these principles, and for being an integral part of our mission to create a better future for all.

Sincerely,
Manish Gupta
Chairman and Chief Executive Officer
Indegene Limited

01

Introduction

- 1.1. Indegene adheres to highest business standards. According to its commitment to the United Nations Global Compact (UNGC), Indegene leverages the UNGC principles covering human rights, labour, environment, and anti-corruption as foundational principles for building and improving its sustainable supply chain and procurement practices. Indegene respects human and labour rights, upholds the values of ethics and integrity in all its business interactions, promotes sustainable procurement, and supplier diversity in the procurement process, protects the environment, and maintains a workplace culture that is free of harassment, discrimination, child labor, forced labor or modern slavery and treats its employees with dignity and respect.
- 1.2. Indegene expects that each of its suppliers, business associates their parent companies, subsidiaries, and affiliated entities, as well as anyone who has a business relationship with Indegene hereinafter referred to as “Business Partners” to comply with the principles described in this “Business Partner Code of Conduct.” Failure to comply with this code may result in the termination of the business relationship.

Compliance with Laws and Regulations

- 2.1. Indegene's Business Partners, without exception, agree to comply with all applicable laws, regulations, and international treaties concerning human, social, and labor rights, environment, and ethical business practices including anti-corruption, competition laws, international trade compliance, information security and privacy data protection.
- 2.2. Trade Control or export control regulations: Business Partner shall not provide to Indegene any material, products, services, software or technical data that originated or were otherwise sourced, directly or indirectly from:
 - 2.2.1. A comprehensively sanctioned country or territory administered by OFAC or
 - 2.2.2. From a party (entity or individual) or destination subject to sanctions regimes, or export controls, including but not limited to those administered by the United Nations, the United States of America, U.K. Canada and the European Union whereby the receipt or transfer by Indegene would result in violation of such sanctions regimes or export control.
- 2.3. Privacy and protection of personal information. Business Partner shall abide by Indegene's Privacy Policy. In case of breaches, immediately report them to CPO@indegene.com. Indegene expects its Business Partner to meet the following standards:
 - 2.3.1. Collect and keep only legally permitted personal information when there is a legitimate need to do so to carry out their business with Indegene.
 - 2.3.2. Safeguard and ensure lawful, proper use of any Confidential Information belonging to individuals, companies, other entities with whom they do business including Indegene.
 - 2.3.3. Have measures to monitor and protect the systems in which confidential information resides, including prevention of both internal and external data/privacy breaches and procedures for responding to such breaches,
 - 2.3.4. Contractually obligate any third parties with access to information described in this section to comply with the requirements for protection of such information as set forth in this section.

03 Management Systems

- 3.1. Indegene is committed to climate action and therefore measures and optimizes its ESG practices based on globally recognized principles of GRI Standards & SBTi. Indegene discloses its environmental impact, climate action goals, and all aspects of sustainability via reporting platforms such as CDP and Ecovadis. Therefore, Indegene considers ISO-based management system certifications, ESG disclosures, and progressive actions towards environment, social, and governance practices as important to foster long-term business relationships with its Business Partners. Indegene strongly encourages its Business Partners to obtain industry-specific certifications and adopt robust ESG frameworks relevant to their organizations.
- 3.2. Business Partners shall take appropriate steps to produce documented information necessary to demonstrate compliance with Indegene's Business Partner Code of Conduct.

04

Human, Social and Labor Rights

Indegene expects its Business Partners to:

- 4.1. Comply with applicable laws and regulations including, but not limited to, working hours, minimum wages, duration of payment, overtime hours, equal remuneration, and other elements of compensation
- 4.2. Support and respect the protection of internationally proclaimed human rights; and ensure that they are not complicit in matters of human rights
- 4.3. Uphold the freedom of association and to recognize the rights to collective bargaining
- 4.4. Contribute to the elimination of all forms of forced and compulsory labor and/or slavery or human trafficking including involuntary prison work
- 4.5. Prohibit child labor. The age of admission to employment or the minimum working age may not be lower than ages mandated under applicable laws
- 4.6. Strive to eliminate discrimination with respect to employment and occupation
- 4.7. Provide a harassment-free workplace for everyone and adhere to applicable laws and guidelines, Business Partners shall also take appropriate initiatives to ensure sensitization of employees on the applicable laws pertaining to harassment.
- 4.8. Always uphold the dignity of its employees through non-discrimination in hiring practices, No discrimination based on race, religion, creed, color, sexual orientation, physical or mental disability, medical condition, age, union membership, and any other such attributes shall be tolerated
- 4.9. Promote social diversity by implementing policies that encourage an inclusive work culture

- 4.10. Provide employees with a safe and healthy workplace in compliance with all applicable safety and health laws and regulations. Business Partners shall take adequate steps to address occupational safety, emergency preparedness, occupational injury and illness, industrial hygiene, and sanitation, to minimize the causes of personal injuries and health hazards in their working environments. Business Partners should strive to put in place and maintain an occupational health and safety policy or when appropriate a safety management system. Business Partners shall track the number of lost time accidents and implement measures aimed at reducing the accidents

Respect for the Environment

5.1. Indegene is committed to contribute to a more sustainable world. Being a global Healthcare Services organization, Indegene is cognizant of the environmental impact and the need to preserve natural resources. Indegene expects its Business Partners to adhere to the commitments made by Indegene towards environmental protection. Business Partners shall develop, implement, and maintain environmentally responsible business practices by complying with applicable environmental regulations.

5.2. We encourage our Business Partner to minimize their environmental footprint by adopting sustainable practices, reducing waste, conserving resources, and complying with environmental laws and regulations, such as follows:

5.2.1. Energy and Emissions

Monitor and track energy consumption and quantify Green House Gas (GHG) emissions, strive to reduce emissions, and transition to renewable sources of energy.

5.2.2. Water

Reduce the consumption of freshwater, monitor water use, recycle, and reuse wastewater

5.2.3. Waste

Segregate waste at source and adopt scientific practices for waste disposal and eliminate single-use plastic

5.2.4. Biodiversity

Protect biodiversity and preserve flora and fauna

06

Ethical Conduct

- 6.1. Indegene is committed to high standards of ethical, moral, and legal conduct in all its business interactions. We expect our Business Partners to share this commitment and adhere to the following principles in all their dealings.
- 6.2. To maintain these commitments, the company expects the Business Partners to:
 - 6.2.3. Maintain transparency during their interaction with Indegene's employees. It shall be known that Indegene's employees are directly or through an intermediary, prohibited from allocating, offering, or granting to a private individual or an employee or representative of a government entity or instrumentality in any country, unwarranted advantages in any form (including monies or other things of value) for the purpose of obtaining favorable treatment, an advantage in the conduct of business or to influence the outcome of a negotiation involving Indegene
 - 6.2.4. Comply with relevant anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws by implementing adequate control and monitoring mechanisms.
 - 6.2.5. Implement a compliance program aimed at the detection and prevention of corruption, with appropriate control mechanisms such as internal policies and rules, the institution of employee awareness programs, and third-party assessments.
- 6.3. Indegene encourages Business Partners to establish robust anti-bribery compliance programs, conduct regular risk assessments, and provide anti-bribery training to employees to help detect and prevent red flags. Additionally, having a clear reporting mechanism for employees to report suspicions or concerns is essential in addressing potential bribery and corruption issues promptly.

Everyday compliance

Scenario 1

It is acceptable to provide “grease” payment to government officials in countries where this is a common practice to facilities necessary services, such as clearing customs, getting licenses or permits, or activating electricity or plumbing. Yes or No?

☐ Yes

☒ No

You are Correct! Here's why.

Even in countries where bribery is considered a routine requirement for business success, such payments, also known as “facilitation payments.” Are not allowed.

Scenario 2

True or False: Indegene require Business Partner to have written policies and procedures on avoiding, monitoring, and reporting bribery and corruption, as well as ongoing training on those rules and practices, including an explanation of the consequences for non-compliance.

☒ True

☐ False

True and correct! Here's why.

Our requirement for written policies on bribery and corruption is vital to mitigate risks, ensure legal compliance, and foster an ethical business culture. Ongoing training reinforces these values and emphasizes the consequences of non-compliance.

Upholding a high standard of ethics is vital to maintaining the integrity of the partnership and fostering a sustainable business environment

Scenario 3

Which of the following is NOT considered a red flag of bribery?

- ☐ Submitting incomplete or inaccurate supporting documentation for payment claims.
- ☐ Billing for expenses that were not incurred.
- ☒ Clearly documented and legitimate business transactions.
- ☐ Providing compensation for obtaining regulatory approvals.
- ☐ Using contracts that lack anti-bribery clauses.

You are Correct! Here's why.

Clearly documented and legitimate business transactions are crucial for maintaining the integrity, credibility, and long-term sustainability of a company. They play a vital role in establishing the company's reputation, fostering trust among stakeholders, and ensuring the company's compliance with legal and ethical standards.

Business Partner's Obligations

- 7.1. Indegene reserves the right to conduct audits with prior intimation to Business Partners. Without limitation, such audits may include Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) parameters, Sustainability, Social compliance, and adherence to other contractual commitments (applicable statutory requirements, quality of delivery, etc.).
- 7.2. Business Partners shall comply with Indegene's Business Partner Code of Conduct, in addition to any other agreement a Business Partner may have with Indegene. Business Partners shall ensure that the Indegene's Business Partner Code of Conduct is communicated to their employees, subsidiaries, business partners, and subcontractors involved in providing services to Indegene in the language known to them and that they abide by the same.
- 7.3. These audits and assessments may be carried out physically on the premises of the Business Partners, virtually, or in a hybrid mode (partially physical and partially virtual) by Indegene or by a third party nominated by Indegene.
- 7.4. Due Diligence Questionnaire: Business Partner shall complete a due diligence questionnaire provided by Indegene on a periodic basis, as determined by Indegene. The questionnaire may encompass various aspects of the Business Partner's operations, including but not limited to compliance with legal and regulatory requirements, environmental practices, labor practices, and financial stability.
- 7.5. Training Participation: The Business Partner shall actively participate in any training programs or sessions related to compliance, ethics, safety, and other relevant topics that Indegene may provide from time to time. This includes, but is not limited to, training on anti-bribery and anti-corruption, health and safety, environmental responsibility, and other areas pertinent to the business relationship.
- 7.6. Reporting Changes: In the event of any material changes in the Business Partner's operations, legal status, ownership, or any other information relevant to the business relationship with Indegene, the Business Partner shall promptly inform Indegene of these changes. This includes any changes that may impact the Business Partner's ability to meet its obligations under this Business Partner Code of Conduct or other agreements with Indegene.
- 7.7. Compliance: Business Partner acknowledges that participation in training programs and the completion of due diligence questionnaires are essential components of maintaining compliance with Indegene's standards and expectations. Failure to participate in training or provide accurate and timely information through the due diligence questionnaire may result in a review of the Business Partner's standing and potential actions by Indegene, including termination of the business relationship.

Managing Information Security in the Information and Communication Technology (ICT) Supply Chain

Indegene is committed to managing the information security risks associated with the Information and Communication Technology (ICT) products and services supply chain. We expect our Business Partners to conduct their business and provide services in accordance with the highest standards of data security, confidentiality, integrity, and availability of our data and adhering to all applicable laws & regulations. This section details our expectations regarding the information security standards in the Information and Communication Technology (ICT) supply chain

8.1. Commitment to Information Security and Compliance: Business Partners are required to implement robust data security and data privacy measures, comply with relevant legal and regulatory standards, and ensure adherence to contractual obligations.

8.2. Identification and Management of Information Security Risks: Business Partners must identify and evaluate data security risks associated with their ICT supply chain activities, considering the potential effects on our data and business objectives.

8.3. Selection and Monitoring of Sub-contractors: Business Partners must establish criteria for selecting reliable sub-contractors, prioritizing those with robust data security practices and relevant certifications like ISO, SOC 2. If any part of the supply chain is subcontracted, the Business Partner must ensure that sub-contractors and their personnel are fully conversant with the Business Partner's information security requirements. Regular monitoring, periodic audits, and evaluations should be conducted to ensure adherence to data security standards.

8.4. Contractual and Security Requirements for Third-Party Components: If there is a need to acquire components (physical or virtual) from sub-contractors, Business Partners must ensure that our security requirements are enforced with their sub-contractors. Contracts with sub-contractors must clearly define data security responsibilities, including aspects such as data protection, confidentiality, and incident response.

8.5. Assurance of Product, Service, and Critical Component Security: Business Partners must ensure that products and services operate within scope, without introducing additional features which may pose a collateral security risk and provide assurances that critical components are traceable through audit logs across the ICT supply chain, from creation through to delivery.

8.6. Obligation Awareness and Conflict Resolution: Business Partners must ensure to understand their obligations when sharing information or data concerning the mutual supply chain operation and address any potential conflicts or issues that may arise between both parties.

Do's and Don't

Key Topic	Do's 	Don't
Bribery and Kickbacks	Business Partners must not offer, promise, or provide anything of value to any person, including employees or personnel of Indegene, customers, or government officials, with the intent to influence decisions or gain an unfair business advantage	It is prohibited to offer or accept bribes, kickbacks, or any form of illicit payment to secure contracts, expedite processes, or gain preferential treatment
Gifts and Entertainment	Business Partners may offer modest gifts and entertainment in accordance with industry norms as a gesture of goodwill. These should be of nominal value and not given with an expectation of receiving special treatment	Giving or accepting lavish gifts, extravagant entertainment, or personal favors that could reasonably be seen as an attempt to influence business decisions is strictly prohibited
Conflicts of Interest	Business Partners must promptly disclose any potential or actual conflicts of interest involving their employees or representatives that could compromise their impartiality in business dealings	Concealing conflicts of interest, where personal interests could interfere with objective decision-making, is not acceptable
Record-Keeping and Reporting	Maintain accurate records of all financial transactions and business dealings. Report any suspected or observed instances of bribery, corruption, or unethical behavior	Falsify records, cover up corrupt practices, or fail to report suspicions of wrongdoing
Due Diligence	Implement robust due diligence processes to assess the integrity and reputation of third parties, including agents, consultants, and partners, to ensure they adhere to ABAC principles	Engage with third parties without conducting due diligence, as this can expose both the Business Partner and Indegene to potential risks
Whistleblower Protection	Encourage employees, Business Partners, and other stakeholders to report ABAC concerns without fear of retaliation. Indegene will investigate all reports promptly and confidentially	Retaliate against individuals who report ABAC concerns in good faith

By accepting this Business Partner Code of Conduct, the Business Partner agrees to actively engage in training, complete due diligence questionnaires as required, and promptly report any significant changes that may impact the business relationship between the Business Partner and Indegene. This commitment ensures transparency, accountability, and the ongoing alignment of business practices with Indegene's standards and values.
